2. Tennessee Tech is Hosting the 2nd Annual Festival of Voices on Friday, September 17th. They are looking for one more choir to join them for this special event. If you are interested, please contact Dr. Craig Zamer at 931-372-3650 or e-mail him at czamer@tntech.edu as soon as possible. The deadline for registration will be here soon.

Here are some details about the event:

*The festival will take place on Friday, September 17th.

*Dr. Sandra Snow from Michigan State University will be the headlining clinician.

*Each choir gets a 30 minute slot to perform one or two prepared selections.

*There are no grades, scores, or rankings. Only constructive comments and suggestions from a master teacher.

*In the afternoon all students will form a mass choir and will receive music to rehearse and perform that evening in concert. (There is no requirement to learn any additional music!)

*For the evening concert each choir will perform one of the two pieces they came prepared to sing, plus the two festival pieces all together.

*Cost of the festival is $250 for a choir of less than 40 students and $350 for a choir of more than 40 students.

*The cost covers music for the festival, the clinic with Dr. Snow, and dinner will be provided to you and your students. (Students will need to bring money to buy their own lunch or bring their own)

*Clinic times will be given out based on receipt of registration fee and distance from the university.

*Registration is due by August 30th.

*There is only one spot left for this coming year's festival. Please contact me at the information below and I will send you the registration form and other needed documents needed for participation.
